Alternatively you can read these books on your KOBO App by following the four simple steps below.

Classics to e-Read4 Simple steps to buy an ebookStep 1

Download the Kobo App, create an account and make sure you are logged in.

Step 2

Browse the Store. Search by authors or title.

Step 3

Choose a book that you want to read. Select Add to Cart and follow the prompts to complete your checkout.*

* If you are using an iPhone or iPad you cannot purchase a book in the Kobo app. You will need to purchase directly from Kobo's website (go to www.kobo.com and sign in using your same login details that you use in the app). Your book will appear in the app on your device immediately after purchase.

Step 4

Once downloaded you can read your ebook offline in the app.

Can't find a title or an author?

Select Filter and change the Language filter from English All. This will prevent the filter from only showing English titles.

VIA AFRIKA
DIGITAL EDUCATION
ACADEMY
ONLINE TRAINING FOR TEACHERS

MARCH 2023

SACE Provider number: PR0000008139
Via Afrika is a B-BBEE Level 1 supplier.

In partnership with the Department of Basic Education.

Our Teachers. Our Future.

We created the Via Afrika Digital Education Academy (VADEA) to provide teachers with the knowledge, skills and values needed to prepare our learners to be competent and confident citizens. VADEA is a set of online training sessions that offer teachers the chance to take on the challenge of elearning and the 4IR confidently.

Via Afrika Digital Education Academy offers the revolutionary Mindset Change for effective Digital Education Course because, as Bitner and Bitner noted, “Using technology as a teaching and learning tool in the classroom [brings about fear, anxiety and concern] to an even greater extent [than change] since it involves both changes in classroom procedures and the use of often unfamiliar technologies.” (Bitner and Bitner, 2002). This three level course identifies and creates the ideal mindset for a teacher who is working in the digital age. Find out more on page 8. We have developed our Fourth Industrial Revolution course, with two generative AI sessions as we acknowledge that “Our learners are our future workers and we have to ensure they are wellequipped and prepared for the 4IR.” – Mrs Angie Motshekga MP, Minister of Basic Education. Find out more on page 9.

Teachers now require different skills and knowledge to what they did even five years ago. In a set of courses on using Windows (on tablets and laptops) and Android operating systems, VADEA has developed the training needed for a teacher to take their place in a classroom, in the 4IR, with a full understanding of the technology and pedagogies needed to make teaching and learning a success. Read more about these courses from page 11.

“Teachers must move from being able to demonstrate technology skills to being able to integrate technology competently into the teaching and learning process with the appropriate pedagogical expertise. But teachers who are competent also need to be confident in their competence in order to perform well.” – Christina Watson, CEO Via Afrika. Our Your laptop course offers guidance on how to teach with only one laptop in a classroom. To meet the needs of a changing environment we offer a Teaching Online course that will give the teacher the knowledge and skills to develop learning for remote teaching and learning situations.

VADEA operates in partnership with the Department of Basic Education (DBE) and was developed from the work Via Afrika has been doing in rural schools in dedicated technology centres. All of the training sessions in the courses have been approved by the South African Council for Educators (SACE) for Continuous Professional Development Points (PD Points). Read more on page 2.

WHY CHOOSE VIA AFRIKA ONLINE LEARNING

VIA AFRIKA ONLINE LEARNING

There are many forms of online learning, and it is important to understand what we do at Via Afrika.

Via Afrika offers asynchronous online training that allows participants to do the training at their own pace. To support participants who are part of a group we hold a synchronous online onboarding and registration session on Microsoft Teams before everyone gets started. During this session, a facilitator engages with the group to ensure everyone is comfortable with the registration process. At this online event, we talk the participants through the training process, the design of the sessions and what to expect. All questions on the process and structure are answered. Participants are then on their own to do the training in their own time, by a date set by the organisers.

On the set completion date, we have a final live online session with all participants where we debrief, discuss potential questions, and wrap up the training. This ensures that the training can be done within a predetermined timeframe and does not remain open-ended.

Our training modules are designed so that there are regular points of engagement built into the training, where the participant needs to engage in an online activity or assessment to ensure that the required knowledge or skill has been acquired. A participant cannot simply turn on the training, walk away and claim that it has been done.

Please see the table below for a comparison between online learning and face-to-face learning to get a complete perspective on the difference between face-to-face synchronous training and asynchronous online training.

Factor to consider	Face-to-face	Online
Sacrificed teaching time	Some of our courses comprise 86 hours or 14 workdays of engagement. This would mean all this time out of the classroom.	86 hours of training that can be done in shorter sessions in the participants' preferred time, over a period of choice.
Retention rate of information	Retention rates of face-to-face training are very low, 8% to 10% is retained after training. *	The Research Institute of America found that eLearning increases retention rates by 25% to 60% . This is because with eLearning participants have more control over the learning process as well as the opportunity to revisit the training as needed. *
Measured active engagement and participation	Participants are physically present, but it is impossible to measure mental engagement.	A report can be provided per individual indicating progress with sessions, progress within a session and engagement levels with content.
Coordinating the availability of participants	A time needs to be identified where all participants can be out of the teaching room on the same day, numerous times.	Participants can engage with the content as and when it fits into their individual schedules.

Factor to consider	Face-to-face	Online
Organising and paying for refreshments	Refreshments need to be provided for each training day.	No refreshments or food.
Additional payment for trainer, time, travel and accommodation	These costs would be incurred for the training days.	No costs to be incurred.
Access to training venue for participants	Participants may require transport time, transport cost and accommodation.	No cost to be incurred.
Data cost	Assessments are done online, limited data requirements.	2 GB of data per two-hour training session.
Absenteeism	Almost impossible to ensure everyone always attends, or to make up missed time.	Everyone schedules the training for when it works for them.
Pace	The trainer determines the pace within the confines of the scheduled time.	Each participant can work through the material at a pace suitable for them.
Revisiting of content	Once the training has been done, only the notes can be revisited.	A participant can redo the training with the recorded trainer at any time.
Group versus individual learning	Group learning allows for constructing of knowledge with peers.	No individual can get lost in the group and as a result lose out on personal growth.
Clarifying questions	The trainer can be asked questions.	The opportunity to revisit content for clarification is quick and easy. Questions can be asked on a session-specific forum where answers will be provided.
Previous negative online training experience	n/a	Via Afrika Online (asynchronous) training has regular assessments built in to ensure and measure engagement levels. We can report on how each participant has engaged with the content. A final online assessment, measuring knowledge gained, is required for all training.

SACE ENDORSEMENT

NUMBER: PR000008139

Via Afrika is pleased to be associated with the South African Council for Educators (SACE). It is SACE's responsibility to enhance the status of the teaching profession through appropriate registration, management of Professional Development and inculcation of a Code of Ethics for all educators. We are proud to be able to assist in educator Professional Development.

SACE MANAGES THE PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT OF TEACHERS BY:

- Approving quality and credible professional development providers
- Endorsing relevant and good professional development, quality activities and programmes
- Allocating professional development (PD) points to such activities
- Crediting each teacher's CPTD account/record with the PD points they have earned.

Teachers are required to engage in three types of SACE Endorsed Professional Development (PD) Activities or Programmes in order to achieve a minimum of 150 PD points on their PD points account in every three-year cycle.

The Via Afrika Digital Education Academy's sessions have been endorsed by SACE and were allocated PD points on successful completion of the session and its assessment. The following PD points were allocated:

- Two hour sessions - 5 PD points
- Six hour sessions - 10 PD points

With Via Afrika's Digital Education Academy's cost-effective sessions, teachers will find ways to develop their skills and earn PD points at the same time.

HOW DO I REGISTER?

Visit our website, www.viaafrika.com/academy to find out more and to register.

HOW DO I PAY?

You will be able to pay with a credit card on our secure payment gateway on our website.

VIA AFRIKA TEENAGE WELLNESS COURSES

Via Afrika

Our Teachers. Our Future.

APRIL 2024

For learners in Grades 11 and 12, first year students at TVET colleges and other institutions of higher learning.

Social Emotional Learning courses aim to help participants understand their emotions, to experience their emotions fully, and to demonstrate empathy for others. The aim is to develop participants who can make positive and responsible decisions while they set and achieve goals in positive collaboration with others.

Social Emotional Learning has five competencies at its core

1. Self-awareness encompasses the skills to recognise your own emotions and to see how emotions have an impact on your mindset and behaviours. This is extended to the ability to acknowledge personal strengths and weaknesses to develop self-confidence.
2. Self-management encompasses the skills to take control and ownership of your mindset, thoughts, and emotions in all situations to enhance goal achievement.
3. Social awareness is the ability to empathise with others from different cultural, social, economic and other backgrounds to your own.
4. Relationship skills are the skills needed to create and maintain positive and healthy relationships with others.
5. Decision-making skills are the skills needed to guide how you choose to respond to situations, challenges and people in a positive way that leads to your personal success and wellness.

Via Afrika offers three courses with Social Emotional Learning at their core

Competency	A mindset for success	Stress and me	Stress, me and others
Self-awareness	X	X	X
Self-management	X	X	X
Social awareness		X	X
Relationship skills			X
Decision-making skills	X	X	X

■ Course 1: A mindset for success

This course aims to develop self-awareness, self-management and decision-making skills.

By the end of the course, the participant will:

1. understand how we think and why we act as we do
2. be able to say what a success mindset is
3. understand how values, beliefs and attitudes play a role in our identity and our success
4. know how to regulate our physiological and emotional state
5. be able to create a goal on solid foundations.

■ Course 2: Stress and me

This course aims to develop self-awareness, self-management, social awareness and decision-making skills.

By the end of the course, the participant will:

1. understand how and why we respond to events in our lives
2. be able to define negative stress
3. be able to define positive stress
4. understand there is an optimal way to respond to events that could be perceived as negative stressors
5. be able to use activities in daily life to manage stress effectively.

■ Course 3: Stress, me and others

This course aims to develop self-awareness, self-management, social awareness, relationship skills and decision-making skills.

By the end of the course, the participant will:

1. understand that our mindset has an impact on how we respond to others
2. identify triggers that result in negative stress reactions to others
3. know how to avoid triggers
4. understand how to work effectively with stressed people in our lives
5. be able to use activities in daily life to manage stress effectively.

Doing the courses

- The three courses have been developed to build upon each other and must be completed in order.
- Each course is completed asynchronously online at www.vastudentonline
- Each course comes with a downloadable workbook and is available in English and Afrikaans.
- The courses can be done as an individual, or they can be purchased for a whole school.

Requirements for an individual to complete the courses

1. A PC or tablet device or mobile device
2. Internet connectivity and sufficient data

Requirements for schools to complete the courses

1. A PC and data projector
2. Internet connectivity and sufficient data
3. A teacher to facilitate the session
